Meet the elements at Elmet

Imagine waking up to this view. Heptonstall Church and the beautiful wooded valley of Hardcastle Crag (National Trust). If you come and stay at Elmet, this spectacular vista will be yours. Enjoy it from the comfort of a window seat or the garden outside.

Fantastic walks and rides in all directions —bluebells, woods, waterfalls, heather moors. Wildlife in abundance—deer, curlews, woodpeckers. Over the hill, the steep cobbled streets of Haworth. Down in the valley, the buzzing market town of Hebden Bridge.

This is the landscape that inspired the Bronte sisters and local poet Ted Hughes. Remains of Elmet, Hughes's book of poems celebrating this unique part of Yorkshire, features the iconic view from Elmet Farmhouse on its cover. Fascinating in all seasons, the ever-changing panorama is like a Turner painting in 3D.
